2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)Citations

D1: JP 2002-045504 A (Sankyo) 12 February 2002

D2: GB 2340007 A (Lee) 9 February 2000

D3: EP 1148443 B1 (Sony Computer Entertainment Inc.) 24 October 2001

D4: JP 2000-014932 A (Sega Enterprise Ltd) 18 January 2000

D4 is cited as an 'A' document in the ISR and is hence not further discussed.

Novelty (N) of Claims 1 to 41

Claims 1 to 41 are not novel when compared to D1 which teaches all of the essential features of the claimed invention.

Inventive Step (IS) of Claims 1 to 41

Claims 1 to 41 lack an inventive step when compared to prior art document D1 as it resolves a similar problem.

Claims 1 to 24 and 32 to 41 lack an inventive step when compared to prior art documents D2 to D3 as each of these documents teach the morphing of a shape with three dimensions to two dimensions, wherein the 'faces' of the three dimensional shape are maintained. The difference between the claimed invention and the citations is that in the former the use resides in a game. This is still within the discipline of software, and so a person skilled in the art would directly and without difficulty, by routine steps, conceived of applying the same teachings in a game as a matter of increasing the appeal of the presentation to a consumer.

Industrial Applicability (IA) of Claims 1 to 41

The claimed invention has industrial applicability in the field of poker machines.
